

Listen to your heart

Polly Bolton

It was not the place for you
It would have been too stark there.
He was not the man for you.
He would have broken your heart.
Know all is well in life
All is progressing as it should be
Listen to the messages the wind brings
And the birds as they sing in the trees

It was not the time for you
It would have been too dark then
She was not the girl for you, she would have broken your heart.
Know all is well in life,
all is progressing as it should be.
Listen to the messages the wind brings,
And the birds as they sing in the trees

It can be a chance for you
You will have room to grow now.
Here, it is the place for you
Open your heart to love.
Know all is well in life
All is progressing as it should be
Listen to the messages the wind brings
And the birds as they sing in the trees